

IMJ Award

Creation and Announcement of the IMJ Award

The IMJ will celebrate its 30th anniversary next year. It has published research results in various areas of medicine. The IMJ publishes high-quality basic and clinical papers from medicine in general and related fields. Our goal is to publish papers that are cited in high quality international journals. Therefore, the IMJ has established the IMJ Award and invites self-nominations of papers published in the IMJ and cited in international journals, to apply for this award. Excellent papers will be awarded once a year. This year's IMJ Award is open to all papers published in IMJ in the past, regardless of the year of publication.

This award will be selected and announced in December, 2022 on IMJ's website.
